I deeply respect the work of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. He had a dream to make our world a more just place. He helped show us that it only takes one person to change the way we think about others. Like Dr. King, I also have a dream.

I want to grow up to become an elementary school teacher, helping students achieve their personal best. I would want all children in my classes to know how to speak up for themselves. I would focus on this because advocates like Dr. King used their voices to make positive differences.

I would show my classes what a strong voice is and how to lead by example, using words and peaceful actions. I would want my students to see me doing this in my life. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. was an amazing person because he had a voice that he used to stand up for what was right. He didn't let anyone put him down, and that is important because it took that kind of determination to really make a difference. I hope I can teach young students to follow his example and be as good as he was.
